

Final Exam

HIST-103 | The Emergence of Modern Europe

Instructor: Dr. Lindsay O'Neill

Term: Fall 2026

Assignment Summary

Grade weight: 20%

Due date: 2026-09-17

Group project: No

Related Mentions

- to engage with these terms. You cannot make up these quizzes, but your lowest score will be dropped.
- Sleep Paper -20%
- This 4 page paper will ask you to use readings on early modern sleeping patterns to make an argument about primary sources and/or life in early modern Europe. You will turn it in via your TA's Brightspace. See Brightspace for prompts.
- Witchcraft Paper - 20%
- This 4 page paper will ask you to read a number of primary sources detailing early modern witchcraft trials and to pick a prompt to make argument about what you read. You will turn it in via your TA's Brightspace. See Brightspace for prompts.
- Mid-term - 20%
- The midterm will include ten of the identification terms (I give a definition and you give the term, just like the quizzes) and one longer essay (you will be given five
- Revolutionary Society (10 min):
- Simon Schama, The Power of Art: David (1hr)
- Nov 26: No Class - Give Thanks
- Nov 27: No Section - Give Thanks Again
- Dec 1-4: Modern Europe?
- Dec 1: Napoleon Dynamite: Napoleon & a Changing Europe
- Dec 3: The Emergence of Modern Europe?
- Dec 4: Section - Prepare for Final Exam
- Dec 10: Final Exam
- Hist 103: Final Study Guide
- Thursday, December 10th
- 4:30-6:30pm, THH 301

- know from outside of class, since we are testing you on what you learned in class. Using
- specific examples is always good. Since you have these questions before hand you should
- take the time to consider your answers: be sure that your essay has an argument that you
- support with examples and that it is written in essay form. Each body paragraph should
- have two examples to support the point it is making.
- If Martin Luther travelled through time to around the time of the French Revolution
- what would shock him and what would remain familiar? What does this tell us
- Hist 103: Final Study Guide
- Thursday, December 10th
- 4:30-6:30pm, THH 301
- Final Exam
- module: contains 0 sub-modules
- University Academic & Support Systems
- module: contains 0 sub-modules
- Extra Credit
- module: contains 0 sub-modules
- 3
- Table of Contents
- Expand All Collapse All
- 6.25 %2 of 32 topics complete
- Course Description & Learning Objectives
- Course Description:
- Between 1350 and 1800 there lived many individuals whose names remain familiar to us
- today: Michelangelo, Gutenberg, Christopher Columbus, Martin Luther, Napoleon.
- However, where their importance lies and how they fit into the larger picture of the period
- is less well known and this class seeks to explore, among other things, who made
- Michelangelo's art possible, why Columbus sailed the ocean blue, why the printing press
- was important, and who besides Martin Luther participated in the Reformation. During this
- period people faced massive religious change, new forms of knowledge, changing forms of
- governance, a geographical reorientation and all the upheaval put in motion by these
- alterations. This class traces the causes and consequences of these changes. It asks why the
- Italian city states gained so much power in the fifteenth century and why they became the
- crucible of the Renaissance. It looks at the impact of the Reformation upon people's sense
- of self and upon forms of government. It examines the reasons behind the growth of the
- state, the consequences of European imperial expansion, and the influence changing forms
- of knowledge had upon this world. It asks why we see this period as witnessing and

- producing what we call the "modern" world.
- Course Objectives:
- Be conversant in the main events and changes in the early modern period
- Be able to discuss the processes of historical change
- Learn to find, read and understand challenging primary sources
- Learn how to write papers that use historical evidence to make concise and complex arguments about the past
- Humanistic Inquiry (GE-B): Description & Learning Objectives
- We all are self-reflective. We try to make sense of what it means to be human and how to relate to one another. We seek to understand ourselves and the world around us and always think about how things could be, or should be, or might have been. History courses are ideal places to practice self-reflection as they prompt us to understand past cultures with different beliefs and traditions. Humanistic inquiry takes us into realms that lie at the heart of what it means to be a thinking, feeling person, and into realms of interpretation and analysis beyond what facts and figures alone can tell us. In this course we will explore what it meant to be alive in the early modern period.
- Courses in humanistic inquiry encourage close engagement with works of the imagination- in words, sights, and sounds-understanding what it means to live another life and to see over the horizon. For this reason, we will look at the art of past and read their writings. In this course, we explore language as a medium of artistic expression and communication. We study systems of language and thought. We seek to understand traditions that create different cultures like that of Renaissance Italy and Revolutionary France-their concepts, values, and events in history-and see them in relation to one another. In this course we will examine how the Renaissance, the Reformation and westward expansion by Europeans influenced each other. Our courses emphasize forms of representation and methods of interpretation, adopting broad perspectives that are chronological, disciplinary, and cross disciplinary. Students immerse themselves in arts and letters to think about their own place in history and in contemporary society, and inquire into our shared futures.
- Courses in the GE Humanistic Inquiry category prepare students to:
- Reflect on what it means to be human through close study of human experience throughout time and across diverse cultures. We will delve into the minds of humans from the 1450s to 1800 to understand how they saw, constructed, and negotiated the world around them.
- Cultivate a critical appreciation for various forms of human expression, including literature, language, philosophy, and the arts, as well as develop an understanding

- of the contexts from which these forms emerge
- Engage with lasting ideas and values that have animated humanity throughout the centuries for a more purposeful, more ethical, and intellectually richer life
- Learn to read and interpret actively and analytically, to think critically and creatively, and to write and speak persuasively
- Learn to evaluate ideas from multiple perspectives and to formulate informed opinions on complex issues of critical importance in today's global world
- Learn to collaborate effectively through traditional and new ways of disseminating knowledge.
- Having successfully met the learning objectives, you will have acquired both practical skills and more intangible competencies. You will master strategies for finding, reading and understanding relevant information from different genres, for analyzing complex problems, for making and evaluating compelling arguments, and for preparing effective presentations. You will become a clearer thinker and a stronger writer. You will know how to situate current events and ideas in the right historical and cultural context to be able to make better decisions. You will gain new insights and be inspired. You will be ready for a life of learning and creativity.
- Traditions and Historical Foundations (GE-H): Descriptions & Learning Objectives
- Courses in this area examine the historical and cultural foundations of contemporary and past societies by studying enduring literary, political, economic, philosophical, legal, ethical or religious traditions. This course traces the history of Europe from 1400 to 1800. As we move through the history of the Renaissance, westward expansion, the Reformation, the scientific revolution and the Enlightenment we trace changing European ideas about who governs and how, interpretations of Christianity, changing ideas about the economy, and new ideas about the role of art and literature in society. Thus, upon the completion of this course, students will be familiar with the history of significant traditions, practices, institutions and ideas that still define our world today. They will understand the historical transmission of such practices and ideas as we look at how ideas were exchanged and at the rise of print. They will be familiar with writers, artists, practitioners, thinkers, groups, and leaders who were part of these changes. They will analyze significant texts that are part of such a history from Pico della Mirandola to Locke and Rosseau; and understand the continuity between the past examples of a tradition and their later manifestations,
- Office Hours
- Instructor: Teaching Assistants:
- Dr. Lindsay O'Neill 8am & 9am Discussion Sections
- Office: SOS 255 Emily Kuwaye (kuwaye@usc.edu)

- ljoneill@usc.edu 10am & 11am Discussion Sections
- Office Hours: TTh 2:30-3:30pm or by appt Milena Kagel (kagel@usc.edu)
- Course Requirements & Expectations
- Course Requirements and Expectations:
- Attendance & Absences: Your presence both in lecture and in your discussion
- section is important. You will be tested on material from both and attending them
- all will enrich your class experience. There is no hybrid option for either lectures or
- discussion. I also do not post the powerpoints. However, if you miss something,
- I'm happy to go over it with you. Do contact me if you are struggling or if there are
- extenuating circumstances. I cannot help if I do not know there is a problem and I
- do want all my students to have a rewarding experience.
- Classroom Norms & Content Warning: In class we want to create an inclusive
- environment where everyone feels safe sharing ideas. Be respectful of other's ideas
- and remember that the goal is not to be right but to discuss and learn. Also be
- aware that this class covers some sensitive areas (as all history does). I will try to
- note when disturbing issues will arise, but I do not always know what is triggering.
- If you think certain issues might trigger you let me know so I can take a close look
- at the readings and assignments for you.
- Make-ups and Extensions: Getting an assignment in on time is your responsibility.
- If you think you will have a problem getting a paper in on time, contact your TA
- beforehand. However, if you miss a deadline, do not just let things slide. We want
- you to succeed in this course and if there are extenuating circumstances do let us
- know. Again, we can't help if we don't know there is a problem.
- Academic Integrity & Plagiarism: The University of Southern California is
- foremost a learning community committed to fostering successful scholars and
- researchers dedicated to the pursuit of knowledge and the transmission of ideas.
- Academic misconduct is in contrast to the university's mission to educate students
- through a broad array of first-rank academic, professional, and extracurricular
- programs and includes any act of dishonesty in the submission of academic work
- (either in draft or final form). This course will follow the expectations for
- academic integrity as stated in the USC Student Handbook. All students are - expected to submit assignments that are original work and prepared specifically for
- the course/section in this academic term. You may not submit work written by
- others or "recycle" work prepared for other courses without obtaining written
- permission from the instructor(s). Students suspected of engaging in academic
- misconduct will be reported to the Office of Academic Integrity. Other violations of

- academic misconduct include, but are not limited to, cheating, plagiarism,
- fabrication (e.g., falsifying data), knowingly assisting others in acts of academic
- dishonesty, and any act that gains or is intended to gain an unfair academic
- advantage. The impact of academic dishonesty is far-reaching and is considered a
- serious offense against the university and could result in outcomes such as failure
- on the assignment, failure in the course, suspension, or even expulsion from the
- university. For more information about academic integrity see the student
- handbook or the Office of Academic Integrity's website, and university policies on
- Research and Scholarship Misconduct. For more information on what qualifies as
- plagiarism see this website and its tutorials. Plagiarism is not limited to, but
- includes: Copying or paraphrasing another author's words. This includes just
- reorganizing words or phrases or replacing a few words - you are still taking
- someone else's ideas and presenting them as your own. Also, included is turning in
- a paper by AI or by another student, copying and pasting from a shared google doc,
- or submitting something you wrote for another class or during high school. I have
- seen these all happen. Please don't do it. It makes me sad. If you have questions
- please see me.
- AI Generators: Since developing analytical, and critical thinking skills are part of
- the learning outcomes of this course, all assignments should be prepared by
- students working individually. Students may not have another person or entity
- complete any substantive portion of the assignment. Developing strong
- competencies in these areas will prepare you for a competitive workplace.
- Therefore, using AI-generated tools is prohibited in this course, will be identified
- as plagiarism, and will be reported to the Office of Academic Integrity unless it is
- included in your section policy as allowable. We also reserve the right to use AI
- detectors if we suspect the use of AI. We are aware that such detectors can be
- wrong but they can be one tool for us if we suspect AI use.
- Course Content Distribution and Synchronous Session Recordings Policies: USC
- has policies that prohibit recording and distribution of any synchronous and
- asynchronous course content outside of the learning environment. Recording a
- university class without the express permission of the instructor and announcement
- to the class, or unless conducted pursuant to an Office of Student Accessibility
- Services (OSAS) accommodation. Recording can inhibit free discussion in the - future, and thus infringe on the academic freedom of other students as well as the
- instructor. (The USC Student Handbook, page 13). Distribution or use of notes,
- recordings, exams, or other intellectual property, based on university classes or

- lectures without the express permission of the instructor for purposes other than
- individual or group study. This includes but is not limited to providing materials for
- distribution by services publishing course materials. This restriction on
- unauthorized use also applies to all information, which had been distributed to
- students or in any way had been displayed for use in relationship to the class,
- whether obtained in class, via email, on the internet, or via any other media. (The
- USC Student Handbook, page 13).
- Support Systems for Writing: If you are worried about your writing skills you can
- see me or your TA, but if you want more help you can use USC's writing center.
- You can set up consultations to discuss writing strategies.
- Office of Student Accessibility Services: The Office of Student Accessibility
- Services (OSAS) provides certification for students who need accessibility services
- and helps arrange the relevant accommodations. A letter verifying your needs can
- be obtained from OSAS and should be forwarded to me as soon as possible.
- Emergency Support System: If an officially declared emergency makes travel to
- campus infeasible, USC Emergency Information will provide safety and other
- updates, including ways in which instruction will be continued by means of
- Brightspace, teleconferencing, and other technology.
- Required Readings
- Course Readings:
- If you didn't opt out of the new course adoption program, everything should be
- available online through either the readings I posted or through My Materials on
- Brightspace. Click here for the FAQ page. If you decided not to sign up for the
- digital course materials program you will need to buy the books below:
- Barbara Diefendorf, ed., The Saint Bartholomew's Day Massacre: A Brief History
- with Documents
- Assignments
- Assignments:
- Discussion Section - 15%
- This section of your grade is determined by your participation in your discussion
- section. Your TA will outline their participation policies in section. Part of your
- participation grade is to complete two primary source activities on Nov 13 and Nov
- 20 (posted on Brightspace like a reading). These should be turned into your TA's
- link on their Brightspace page before section begins for credit. It will be graded
- pass/fail. See your TA's syllabus for more information.
- Identification Quizzes - 5%

- After every lecture there will be three terms listed. Eleven times during the course of the semester there will be a quiz at the beginning of class that asks you to identify two of those terms. This exercise will prepare you for the exams, which will ask you to engage with these terms. You cannot make up these quizzes, but your lowest score will be dropped.
- Sleep Paper -20%
- This 4 page paper will ask you to use readings on early modern sleeping patterns to make an argument about primary sources and/or life in early modern Europe. You will turn it in via your TA's Brightspace. See Brightspace for prompts.
- Witchcraft Paper - 20%
- This 4 page paper will ask you to read a number of primary sources detailing early modern witchcraft trials and to pick a prompt to make argument about what you read. You will turn it in via your TA's Brightspace. See Brightspace for prompts.
- Mid-term - 20%
- The midterm will include ten of the identification terms (I give a definition and you give the term, just like the quizzes) and one longer essay (you will be given five

Prompts (pick ONE)

- be an in-class exam.
- Final Exam - 20%
- The final is the same format as the midterm - 10 identifications and one longer essay.
- This too will be an in-class exam.
- Grading Scale
- A: 100-93; A-: 92-90; B+: 89-87; B: 86-83; B-: 82-80; C+: 79-77; C: 76-73; C- 72-70
- D+: 69-67; D: 66-63; D-: 62-60; F: 59-0
- Aug 25-29: Intro & Black Death
- Aug 25: Introducing the Early Modern World
- Aug 27: The Death of the Dark Ages?: The Medieval Inheritance
- Aug 28: Readings for Section
- about what has changed between the Reformation and the French Revolution?
- How important was the written or printed word to the Reformation, the new science, the Enlightenment, and/or the French Revolution? What does this say about who was involved in discussions?
- True or False: "The French Revolution was the most revolutionary occurrence between 1520 and 1815." Be sure to consider what revolutionary means and compare it to at least two other "revolutionary" occurrences.

- Europe faced a number of crises of authority between 1520 and 1815 with the
- Reformation, the new science, absolute rule, the Enlightenment, and the French
- Revolution, among other tensions. What authorities were under attack and why?
- How did these crises change or not change European society? [Explore 3 crises]
- How did the place of religion OR gender in society change between 1520 and
- 1800?
- about what has changed between the Reformation and the French Revolution?
- How important was the written or printed word to the Reformation, the new
- science, the Enlightenment, and/or the French Revolution? What does this say
- about who was involved in discussions?
- True or False: "The French Revolution was the most revolutionary occurrence
- between 1520 and 1815." Be sure to consider what revolutionary means and
- compare it to at least two other "revolutionary" occurrences.
- Europe faced a number of crises of authority between 1520 and 1815 with the
- Reformation, the new science, absolute rule, the Enlightenment, and the French
- Revolution, among other tensions. What authorities were under attack and why?
- How did these crises change or not change European society? [Explore 3 crises]
- How did the place of religion OR gender in society change between 1520 and
- 1800?
- be an in-class exam.
- Final Exam - 20%
- The final is the same format as the midterm - 10 identifications and one longer essay.
- This too will be an in-class exam.
- Grading Scale
- A: 100-93; A-: 92-90; B+: 89-87; B: 86-83; B-: 82-80; C+: 79-77; C: 76-73; C- 72-70
- D+: 69-67; D: 66-63; D-: 62-60; F: 59-0
- Aug 25-29: Intro & Black Death
- Aug 25: Introducing the Early Modern World
- Aug 27: The Death of the Dark Ages?: The Medieval Inheritance
- Aug 28: Readings for Section
- Lizzie Wade, "From Black Death to fatal flu, past pandemics show why people on
- the margins suffer most," Science, May 14, 2020
- Alex Brown and Grace Owen, "What a list of Black Death Survivors reveals about
- the way people recovered from plague," The Conversation, 13 May 2026.
- Andrew Curry, "Medieval volcano may have indirectly sparked Europe's Black
- Death," Science, 4 December 2025

- Sep 1-4: Everyday Life
- Sep 1: Power in Fifteenth Century Europe
- Sep 3: A Day in the Life: Living in Fifteenth Century Europe
- Sep 4: Readings for Section:
- A Roger Ekirch, "Sleep we have lost: Pre-Industrial Slumber in the British Isles, The American Historical Review, April 2001, pg. 343-365
- Sasha Handley, Sleep in Early Modern England, Introduction & Chap 2
- Ekirch, "Sleep we have lost"
- PDF document
- 103.Handley.Intro
- PDF document
- 103.Handley.2
- PDF document
- Sep 8-11: Renaissance
- Sep 8: Worldly Merchants: The Importance of City States
- Sep 10: The Idea of the Renaissance
- Sep 11: Section Readings:
- Kay Daly, "Diverting the Flood of History: Ada Palmer's Inventing the Renaissance," Chicago Review of Books, 25 March 2025
- Ada Palmer, "Black Death, COVID, and Why We Keep Telling the Myth of a Renaissance Golden Age and Bad Middle Ages," 4 June 2020, Blog by author of Inventing the Renaissance (2025).
- Jerry Brotton, "The Best Book on the Renaissance," 31 August 2017.
- Blog by Ada Palmer
- PDF document
- Sep 15-18: Renaissance
- Sep 15: Renaissance Men?: The Highs and Lows of the Renaissance
- Sleep Paper Due by Midnight
- Sep 17: The Renaissance World: Borders and the Beyond
- Sep 18: Readings for Section:
- Vasari, Lives of the Artists: Leonardo da Vinci & Properzia de' Rossi
- Video: The Story of Women and Art, Part 1(1hr)
- Vasari on da Vinci
- PDF document
- Vasari on d'Rossi
- PDF document

- Sep 15: Sleep Paper Due
- HIST 103 Paper 1: Sleep in the Early Modern Period
- What do the patterns of sleep described by Ekirch and Handley tell us about structures of power or values held by people in the early modern world?
- What primary sources do Ekirch and Handley use from the early modern period to investigate how people slept back then? What do these sources tell us about whose sleep patterns are easier for historians to research? And, in turn, what does this tell us about structure of power in the early modern world?
- Do a google news search for "sleep" and find articles discussing sleep today (these are your primary sources). Are our concerns about sleep similar or different from what Ekirch and Handley see? What does it say about the similarities and/or differences between our cultures?
- Take on an early modern persona and write a tract entitled "On Sleep" that reflects upon what sleep means for them/society and/or gives guidance on how to approach sleep. Be sure to use citations to Ekirch and Handley to show us where the information is coming from.
- of attacking or harming? What does this say about what people valued at the time?
- Using what you read in the Levack primary sources consider this: According to their confessions, what appears to tempt people to turn to the devil or witchcraft and what does it say about society at the time?
- Using the Levack primary sources, examine the gender breakdown between the accused and the accusers. Are male witches treated the same or differently? Are the accusers mostly male or female? Why? What does this all tell us about gender and/or community during this period?
- Using the Levack primary sources, what do these trials tell us about who had power in these societies or how class played a role in the trials and accusations? Do the trials show state power or communal power?
- about what has changed between the Reformation and the French Revolution?
- How important was the written or printed word to the Reformation, the new science, the Enlightenment, and/or the French Revolution? What does this say about who was involved in discussions?
- True or False: "The French Revolution was the most revolutionary occurrence between 1520 and 1815." Be sure to consider what revolutionary means and compare it to at least two other "revolutionary" occurrences.
- Europe faced a number of crises of authority between 1520 and 1815 with the Reformation, the new science, absolute rule, the Enlightenment, and the French

- Revolution, among other tensions. What authorities were under attack and why?
- How did these crises change or not change European society? [Explore 3 crises]
- How did the place of religion OR gender in society change between 1520 and
- 1800?

Exam Format

- Since the midterm you have gathered 42 identifications from class lectures. We will list the
- definitions of ten of those terms and you need to write in the correct person/place/event.
- You will NOT be provided with a list of the terms themselves.
- Below you will find five essay questions, TWO of these will show up on the exam, and
- you will be expected to answer ONE. Incorporate the knowledge you have gathered both
- from the lectures and the readings since the midterm. You should not use information you
- Since the midterm you have gathered 42 identifications from class lectures. We will list the
- definitions of ten of those terms and you need to write in the correct person/place/event.
- You will NOT be provided with a list of the terms themselves.
- Below you will find five essay questions, TWO of these will show up on the exam, and
- you will be expected to answer ONE. Incorporate the knowledge you have gathered both
- from the lectures and the readings since the midterm. You should not use information you
- know from outside of class, since we are testing you on what you learned in class. Using
- specific examples is always good. Since you have these questions before hand you should
- take the time to consider your answers: be sure that your essay has an argument that you
- support with examples and that it is written in essay form. Each body paragraph should
- have two examples to support the point it is making.
- If Martin Luther travelled through time to around the time of the French Revolution
- what would shock him and what would remain familiar? What does this tell us
- By the midterm you will have gathered 33 identifications from class lectures. We will list
- the definitions of ten terms and you will have to provide us with the term it corresponds to.
- The terms will not be provided. Be aware this segment of the exam can hurt you if you are - not prepared because it is hard for us to give partial credit, so do know your terms.
- Below you will find five essay questions, TWO of these will show up on the exam, and
- you will be expected to answer ONE. Try to incorporate knowledge you have gathered
- both from lectures and from the readings. It always looks good if you can use examples
- from the readings - you don't need to quote things, but discussing a specific person, text,
- or event helps (evidence!). You should not use information you learned elsewhere since we
- are testing you on what you learned from this class. Since you have these questions in
- advance you should take the time to consider your answers: be sure that your essay has an

- argument that you support with examples and that it is written in essay form (introduction, supporting paragraphs with specific evidence, conclusion). Most of these questions are intentionally broad. It is up to you to find a way to focus the question in an interesting way and find support for that.
- Could Europe in 1550 be called a "new world"? Why or why not? [You can define what you mean by "new world"]
- Create a character for yourself who is on their deathbed between 1450 and 1550 and looking back on their life. What structured their life and what changes did they witness? What does it show us about the period? Be sure to think about where they were living, their gender, and what class they belonged to.
- True or False: "The 'big' events of the early modern period, like the Renaissance and westward expansion, were events created and experienced by male elites."
- Defend your answer.
- What changed early modern Europe more: art and ideas, war, or disease and/or environmental change?
- Between 1348 and 1550 what impact did the outside world have upon Europe? Did it affect it more than interior changes?
- Oct 13-16: The Reformation
- Oct 13: Last Days: The Road to Reformation
- Oct 15: Here I Stand: Martin Luther's Reformation
- Oct 16: Lyndal Roper, "Living I was your Plague: Martin Luther's World and Legacy," Chap 1 (The Luther Cranach Made), Chap 6 (Luther the Anti-Semite), Chap 7 (Luther Kitsch)
- 103.Roper.Luther.1
- PDF document
- 103.Roper.Luther.6
- PDF document
- 103.Roper.Luther.7
- PDF document
- Oct 20-23: The Reformation
- Oct 20: Ruling the Reformation: Expanding & Controlling the Reformation
- Oct 22: The Word: The Power of Print
- Oct 23: Section in Special Collections
- "Reading" for section: The Machine that Made Us (1hr)
- Oct 27-30: Reformation
- Oct 27: The Church Resurgent: The Catholic Church & the Reformation

- Oct 29: "These are the days of shaking": The Wars of Religion
- Oct 30: Readings for Section:
- Barbara Diefendorf, ed., The Saint Bartholomew's Day Massacre: A Brief History
- with Documents, Introduction, Documents 2-6, 9-11, 16-21, 31, 33
- Nov 3-6: Witches & Science
- Nov 3: Witchcraze!: Witches in Early Modern Europe
- Nov 5: Rewriting the Book of Nature: The New Science & New Knowledge
- Nov 6: Readings for Section:
- Brian Levack, The Witchcraft Sourcebook, Chaps 36-44, 46-47
- 103.Levack.36
- PDF document
- 103.Levack.37
- PDF document
- 103.Levack.38
- PDF document
- 103.Levack.39
- PDF document
- 103.Levack.40
- PDF document
- 103.Levack.41
- PDF document
- 103.Levack.42
- PDF document
- 103.Levack.43
- PDF document
- 103.Levack.44
- PDF document
- 103.Levack.46
- PDF document
- 103.Levack.47
- PDF document
- Nov 10-13: Enlightenment
- Nov 10: Absolute Power: Experiments in Rule
- Witchcraft Paper Due
- Nov 12: The Enlightenment: Thought Experiments
- Nov 13: Readings for Section

- Excerpt: John Locke, Two Treatises of Government (1689)
- Excerpt: Rousseau, The Social Contract (1762)
- Enlightenment Primary Source Activity [Ungraded, but counts towards participation.
- Since the midterm you have gathered 42 identifications from class lectures. We will list the
- definitions of ten of those terms and you need to write in the correct person/place/event.
- You will NOT be provided with a list of the terms themselves.
- Below you will find five essay questions, TWO of these will show up on the exam, and
- you will be expected to answer ONE. Incorporate the knowledge you have gathered both
- from the lectures and the readings since the midterm. You should not use information you
- know from outside of class, since we are testing you on what you learned in class. Using
- specific examples is always good. Since you have these questions before hand you should
- take the time to consider your answers: be sure that your essay has an argument that you
- support with examples and that it is written in essay form. Each body paragraph should
- have two examples to support the point it is making.
- If Martin Luther travelled through time to around the time of the French Revolution
- what would shock him and what would remain familiar? What does this tell us

Tips

- Know your ID Terms. These should be easy points, but if you miss a few they can
- impact your grade because it is hard to give partial credit.
- Know your ID Terms. These should be easy points, but if you miss a few they can
- impact your grade because it is hard to give partial credit.
- Your essay grade will benefit from specific references to the class readings. Use the
- documents from Diefendorf, reference the documentaries and the witchcraft trials,
- use Locke, and Rousseau and your activities.
- Avoid using the definitions we give in the id terms for your essay. If you show
- original engagement with the terms it's fine, but don't just say what I put down for
- the definitions. It doesn't show a deep engagement with the material and will most
- probably impact your grade.
- Your essay should have a thesis statement and each body paragraph should include
- at least two pieces of evidence to back up your point. We don't expect you to
- memorize quotes, but refer to specific people, texts, and events to support your
- argument. Be sure to let us know how those people, texts, and events support the
- point you want to make. Don't just write "like John Locke" tell us what Locke did
- to support your point.
- Know your ID Terms. These should be easy points, but if you miss a few they can

- impact your grade because it is hard to give partial credit.
- Your essay grade will benefit from specific references to the class readings. Use the documents from Diefendorf, reference the documentaries and the witchcraft trials, use Locke, and Rousseau and your activities.
- Avoid using the definitions we give in the id terms for your essay. If you show original engagement with the terms it's fine, but don't just say what I put down for the definitions. It doesn't show a deep engagement with the material and will most probably impact your grade.
- Your essay should have a thesis statement and each body paragraph should include at least two pieces of evidence to back up your point. We don't expect you to memorize quotes, but refer to specific people, texts, and events to support your argument. Be sure to let us know how those people, texts, and events support the point you want to make. Don't just write "like John Locke" tell use what Locke did to support your point.

Restrictions

- We are testing you on your ability to navigate the information provided for you by the class, not your ability to find more information. Avoid the internet and information from other courses.
- this paper. If you include other sources without checking with your TA you will be penalized.
- 103.Paper.2.F.26
- Word Document
- Nov 17-20: Enlightenment
- Nov 17: Living in "Enlightened" Europe
- Nov 19: Rumbles of Revolution
- Nov 20: Readings for Section
- Video: Africa & Britain, A Forgotten History, Episode 2: Freedom (50 min)
- Slavery and the African Presence in London Activity [Ungraded but counts towards participation. Due in section]
- 103.Act.Enslaved.F.26
- Word Document
- Nov 24 -27: Revolution
- Nov 24: You Say You Want a Revolution?: The French Revolution
- [If I have enough people who want an in-person lecture I will give one, but if you need to travel you should watch the below videos]

- The Fall of the French Monarchy (10 min)
- Revolutionary Society (10 min):
- Simon Schama, The Power of Art: David (1hr)
- Nov 26: No Class - Give Thanks
- Nov 27: No Section - Give Thanks Again
- Dec 1-4: Modern Europe?
- Dec 1: Napoleon Dynamite: Napoleon & a Changing Europe
- Dec 3: The Emergence of Modern Europe?
- Dec 4: Section - Prepare for Final Exam
- Dec 10: Final Exam
- Hist 103: Final Study Guide
- Thursday, December 10th
- 4:30-6:30pm, THH 301
- We are testing you on your ability to navigate the information provided for you by the class, not your ability to find more information. Avoid the internet and information from other courses.
- University Academic & Support Systems
- Statement on University Academic and Support Systems
- Students and Disability Accommodations:
- USC welcomes students with disabilities into all of the University's educational programs.
- The Office of Student Accessibility Services (OSAS) is responsible for the determination of appropriate accommodations for students who encounter disability-related barriers.
- Once a student has completed the OSAS process (registration, initial appointment, and submitted documentation) and accommodations are determined to be reasonable and appropriate, a Letter of Accommodation (LOA) will be available to generate for each course. The LOA must be given to each course instructor by the student and followed up with a discussion. This should be done as early in the semester as possible as accommodations are not retroactive. More information can be found at osas.usc.edu. You may contact OSAS at (213) 740-0776 or via email at osasfrontdesk@usc.edu.
- Student Financial Aid and Satisfactory Academic Progress:
- To be eligible for certain kinds of financial aid, students are required to maintain Satisfactory Academic Progress (SAP) toward their degree objectives. Visit the Financial Aid Office webpage for undergraduate- and graduate-level SAP eligibility requirements and the appeals process.
- Support Systems:
- Counseling and Mental Health - (213) 740-9355 - 24/7 on call

- Free and confidential mental health treatment for students, including short-term psychotherapy, group counseling, stress fitness workshops, and crisis intervention.
- 988 Suicide and Crisis Lifeline - 988 for both calls and text messages - 24/7 on call
- The 988 Suicide and Crisis Lifeline (formerly known as the National Suicide Prevention Lifeline) provides free and confidential emotional support to people in suicidal crisis or emotional distress 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, across the United States. The Lifeline consists of a national network of over 200 local crisis centers, combining custom local care and resources with national standards and best practices. The new, shorter phone number makes it easier for people to remember and access mental health crisis services (though the previous 1 (800) 273-8255 number will continue to function indefinitely) and represents a continued commitment to those in crisis.
- CARE-SC: Confidential Advocacy, Resources, and Education Support Center - (213) 740-9355(WELL) - 24/7/365 on call.
- Confidential advocates, prevention educators, and professional counseling teams work to promote a universal culture of consent, as well as prevent and respond to sexual assault, intimate partner violence, stalking, or other relationship harm. Services available to all USC students at no cost.
- Office of Civil Rights Compliance - (213) 740-5086
- Information about how to get help or help someone affected by harassment, discrimination, retaliation on the basis of a protected characteristic, rights of protected classes, reporting options, and additional resources for students, faculty, staff, visitors, and applicants.
- USC Report & Response - (213) 740-2500
- The USC Report & Response website is the university's central reporting portal for concerns arising in the academic space or workplace. All concerns will be assessed and referred to the appropriate university office for resolution. Any questions about USC Report & Response or reporting, in general, can be referred to the Office of Professionalism and Ethics at ope@usc.edu.
- USC Campus Support and Intervention - (213) 740-0411
- Focuses on student success by assisting students in navigating and resolving complex issues through problem solving, presenting options, and connecting to resources.
- USC Emergency Information
- Latest updates regarding safety, including ways in which instruction will be continued if an officially declared emergency makes travel to campus infeasible.
- USC Department of Public Safety
- For 24 hour emergency assistance or to report a crime: UPC: (213) 740-4321, HSC: (323)-442-1000.

- For 24 hour non-emergency assistance or information: UPC: (213) 740-6000, HSC: 323-442-1200.
- Office of the Ombuds - (213) 821-9556 (UPC) / (323-442-0382 (HSC)
- A safe and confidential place to share your USC-related issues with a University Ombuds who will work with you to explore options or paths to manage your concern.
- Occupational Therapy Faculty Practice - (323) 442-2850 or otfp@med.usc.edu
- Confidential Lifestyle Redesign services for USC students to support health promoting habits and routines that enhance quality of life and academic performance.
- Extra Credit
- Over the course of the semester I keep my eyes open for early modern opportunities on campus or in Los Angeles. I will send out an announcement if I see something you can attend for extra credit.
- You can also do one or two of the attached "Experiencing the Past" activities that ask you to do a task like an early modern person (cook, read a letter, play music, fold a letter). Directions on the word doc.
- You can do up to two extra credit assignments total. Each one will give you two extra points on a paper. You should email them to your TA when finished. They need to be turned in by the end of classes or Dec 4th.
- "Experiencing the Past" Assignments
- Word Document
- "Experiencing the Past" Psalm
- Image
- "Experiencing the Past" Book of Psalms
- PDF document
- "Experiencing the Past" 18th C Recipes
- Word Document

Due Date & Submission

- Use the Ekirch article "Sleep we have lost" and the Handley chapters which we read for class to engage with the following prompts.
- 103.Act.Enlightenment1
- Word Document
- Nov 10: Witchcraft Paper Due
- Witchcraft & Daily Life Paper

- [We reserve the right to tweak the prompts and guidelines up to a week before the assignment is due, but we will inform you if any major changes are made]

Format Requirements

- roadmap to your paper and tells us your argument, the body paragraphs should start with a topic sentence that says exactly what your main idea for the paragraph is and has at least two quotes or direct references to the article/s that back up your main idea. This evidence needs to be cited through footnotes or in-text citations [ex: (Ekirch, 25)]. See the tips below and the paper rubric for more guidance.
- roadmap to your paper, the body paragraphs should start with a topic sentence that says exactly what your main idea for the paragraph is and has at least two quotes or few specific examples that back up your main idea. See the tips below and the paper rubric for more guidance.
- Pick ONE of the following prompts and use Brian Levack's The Witchcraft Sourcebook (2015) for your evidence:
- Based on what you read in the Levack primary sources: What are witches accused

Helpful Hints

- Be sure to have a thesis statement in the introduction that tells your reader what the argument for the paper is and how you will approach it. It should tell us exactly what to expect from the coming paragraphs
- Include direct quotes and/or specific examples from the article or primary sources you found. Cite them. This is your evidence and an essay is only as good as the support you have for your points. Remember we love direct evidence.
- Each body paragraph should have its own distinct topic, which should be stated in the first sentence. Your topic sentence should be centered on an idea rather than being descriptive. Don't be vague either. (Avoid: "People slept in different ways" [vague] or "People went to bed at 8pm" [descriptive]; Go for something like: "Ekirch uses primary sources written mainly by members of the upper classes.")
- The best paper should do more than just show us x, y, and z about the sleep (if you just do that and do it well it is probably a B or B+ paper). You should reach for what those points together tell us about society at that time. In the best papers the points should build off each other and cumulate in an overarching point.
- Cite all your evidence. If I can write "How do we know?" in the margin of the paper it means you should cite something. This includes items found through your google search. In-text citations are fine: For example (Ekirch, 12). But if you use

- the internet be sure to have a bibliography if you use in-text citations for them. We - need to be able to go to the articles or texts that you used.
- Be sure to explain how your evidence connects to your main point (analyze it). Say
- why this quote or fact supports what you are arguing in that paragraph.
- Sep 20-24: European Expansion
- Sep 22: 1492: The World of Columbus
- Sep 24: Plus Ultra: The "Spanish" Empire
- Sep 25: Readings for Section:
- Jerry Brotton, The Renaissance Bazaar, Chap 1 (15 pgs)
- Read Columbus' Letter on his Return:
- MacGregor, The History of the World in 100 Objects
- Read or listen to the stories behind these objects: Part 13: 62. Hebrew Astrolabe, 65. Taino
- Ritual Seat; Part 15: 75. Durer's Rhinoceros; Part 16: 77. Benin Plaque
- Note: Only one person at a time can access the library's reading link and the
- podcast link is tied to Apple Podcasts but it can also be found on Spotify.
- Brotton, The Renaissance Bazaar
- PDF document
- Sep 29-Oct 2: Westward Expansion
- Sep 29: Creating the New World
- Oct 1: Consuming the New World
- Oct 2: Readings for Section:
- Bernal Diaz del Castillo, The True History of the Conquest of New Spain, pg
- 121-171
- Miguel León Portilla, Broken Spears: The Aztec Account of the Conquest of
- Mexico, Appendix, Chap 8-10 (37 pgs)
- Broken.Spears.App
- PDF document
- Broken.Spears.8
- PDF document
- Broken.Spears.9
- PDF document
- Broken.Spears.10
- PDF document
- Oct 6-9: Midterm & Break
- Oct 6: Midterm
- Oct 8: No Class - Fall Break

- Oct 9: No Section - Fall Break
- Oct 6: Midterm
- Hist 103: Midterm Study Guide
- Midterm: October 8th, 5-6:20pm in class
- Be sure to have a thesis statement in the introduction that tells your reader what the argument for the paper is and how you will approach it. It should tell us exactly what to expect from the coming paragraphs
- Include direct quotes and/or specific examples from the primary sources and cite them. This is your evidence and an essay is only as good as the support you have for your points. Remember we love direct evidence from primary sources. Your evidence should come from the primary sources, not the abstracts from the beginning. If you think you need to use these instead, ask your TA or the instructor.
- Each body paragraph should have its own distinct topic, which should be stated in the first sentence. Your topic sentence should be centered on an idea rather than being descriptive (Avoid: "Ursula was convicted of witchcraft in 1565"; Go for something like: "Upper class individuals accused of witchcraft were treated as more dangerous than those from the lower classes")
- The best paper should do more than just show us x, y, and z about witchcraft or everyday life (if you just do that and do it well it is probably a B or B+ paper). You should reach for what those points together tell us about society at that time. In the best papers the points should build off each other and cumulate in an overarching point.
- Cite all your evidence. If I can write "How do we know?" in the margin of the paper it means you should cite something - in the paper you can ONLY cite Levack's book or lecture. In-text citations are fine: For example (Levack, 12).
- Be sure to explain how your evidence connects to your main point (analyze it). Say why this quote or fact supports what you are arguing in that paragraph.

Full Syllabus Extract

Final Exam module: contains 0 sub-modules University Academic & Support Systems module: contains 0 sub-modules Extra Credit module: contains 0 sub-modules

3 Table of Contents Expand All Collapse All 6.25 %2 of 32 topics complete Course Description & Learning Objectives Course Description: Between 1350 and 1800 there lived many individuals whose names remain familiar to us today: Michelangelo, Gutenberg, Christopher Columbus, Martin Luther, Napoleon. However, where their importance lies and how they fit into the larger picture of the period is less well known and this class seeks to explore, among other things, who made Michelangelo's art possible, why Columbus sailed the ocean blue, why the printing press was important, and who besides Martin Luther participated in the Reformation. During this period people faced massive religious change, new forms of knowledge, changing forms of governance, a geographical reorientation and all the upheaval put in motion by these alterations. This class traces the causes and consequences of these changes. It asks why the Italian city states gained so much power in the fifteenth century and why they became the crucible of the Renaissance. It looks at the impact of the Reformation upon people's sense of self and upon forms of government. It examines the reasons behind the growth of the state, the consequences of European imperial expansion, and the influence changing forms of knowledge had upon this world. It asks why we see this period as witnessing and producing what we call the "modern" world. Course Objectives: Be conversant in the main events and changes in the early modern period Be able to discuss the processes of historical change Learn to find, read and understand challenging primary sources Learn how to write papers that use historical evidence to make concise and complex arguments about the past

Humanistic Inquiry (GE-B): Description & Learning Objectives We all are self-reflective. We try to make sense of what it means to be human and how to relate to one another. We seek to understand ourselves and the world around us and always think about how things could be, or should be, or might have been. History courses are ideal places to practice self-reflection as they prompt us to understand past cultures with different beliefs and traditions. Humanistic inquiry takes us into realms that lie at the heart of what it means to be a thinking, feeling person, and into realms of interpretation and analysis beyond what facts and figures alone can tell us. In this course we will explore what it meant to be alive in the early modern period. Courses in humanistic inquiry encourage close engagement with works of the imagination- in words, sights, and sounds-understanding what it means to live another life and to see over the horizon. For this reason, we will look at the art of past and read their writings. In this course, we explore language as a medium of artistic expression and communication. We study systems of language and thought. We seek to understand traditions that create different cultures like that of Renaissance Italy and Revolutionary France-their concepts, values, and events in history-and see them in relation to one another. In this course we will examine how the Renaissance, the Reformation and westward expansion by Europeans influenced each other. Our courses emphasize forms of representation and methods of interpretation, adopting broad perspectives that are chronological, disciplinary, and cross disciplinary. Students immerse themselves in arts and letters to think about their own place in history and in contemporary society, and inquire into our shared futures. Courses in the GE Humanistic Inquiry category prepare students to: Reflect on what it means to be human through close study of human experience throughout time and across diverse cultures. We will delve into the minds of humans from the 1450s to 1800 to understand how they saw, constructed, and negotiated the world around them.

Cultivate a critical appreciation for various forms of human expression, including literature, language, philosophy, and the arts, as well as develop an understanding of the contexts from which these forms emerge Engage with lasting ideas and values that have animated humanity throughout the centuries for a more purposeful, more ethical, and intellectually richer life Learn to read and interpret actively and analytically, to think critically and creatively, and to write and speak persuasively Learn to evaluate ideas from multiple perspectives and to formulate informed opinions on complex issues of critical importance in today's global world Learn to collaborate effectively through traditional and new ways of disseminating knowledge. Having successfully met the learning objectives, you will have acquired both practical skills and more intangible competencies. You will master strategies for finding, reading and understanding relevant information from different genres, for analyzing complex problems, for making and evaluating compelling arguments, and for preparing effective presentations. You will become a clearer thinker and a stronger writer. You will know how to situate current events and ideas in the right historical and cultural context to be able to make better decisions. You will gain new insights and be inspired. You will be ready for a life of learning and creativity. Traditions and Historical Foundations (GE-H): Descriptions & Learning Objectives Courses in this area examine the historical and cultural foundations of contemporary and past societies by studying enduring literary, political, economic, philosophical, legal, ethical or religious traditions. This course traces the history of Europe from 1400 to 1800. As we move through the history of the Renaissance, westward expansion, the Reformation, the scientific revolution and the Enlightenment we trace changing European ideas about who governs and how, interpretations of Christianity, changing ideas about the economy, and new ideas about the role of art and literature in society. Thus, upon the completion of this course, students will be familiar with the history of significant traditions, practices, institutions and ideas that still define our world today. They will understand the historical transmission of such practices and ideas as we look at how ideas were exchanged and at the rise of print. They will be familiar with writers, artists, practitioners, thinkers, groups, and leaders who were part of these changes. They will analyze significant texts that are part of such a history from Pico della Mirandola to Locke and Rousseau; and understand the continuity between the past examples of a tradition and their later manifestations, Office Hours Instructor: Teaching Assistants: Dr. Lindsay O'Neill 8am & 9am Discussion Sections Office: SOS 255 Emily Kuwaye (kuwaye@usc.edu) ljoneill@usc.edu 10am & 11am Discussion Sections Office Hours: TTh 2:30-3:30pm or by appt Milena Kagel (kagel@usc.edu) Course Requirements & Expectations Course Requirements and Expectations: Attendance & Absences: Your presence both in lecture and in your discussion section is important. You will be tested on material from both and attending them all will enrich your class experience. There is no hybrid option for either lectures or discussion. I also do not post the powerpoints. However, if you miss something, I'm happy to go over it with you. Do contact me if you are struggling or if there are extenuating circumstances. I cannot help if I do not know there is a problem and I do want all my students to have a rewarding experience. Classroom Norms & Content Warning: In class we want to create an inclusive environment where everyone feels safe sharing ideas. Be respectful of other's ideas and remember that the goal is not to be right but to discuss and learn. Also be aware that this class covers some sensitive areas (as all history does). I will try to note when disturbing issues will arise, but I do not always know what is triggering. If you think certain issues might trigger you let me know so I can take a close look at the readings and assignments for you. Make-ups and Extensions: Getting an assignment in on time is your responsibility. If you think you will have a problem getting a paper in on time, contact your TA beforehand. However, if you miss a deadline, do not just let things slide. We want you to succeed in this course and if there are extenuating circumstances do let us know. Again, we can't help if we don't know there is a problem. Academic Integrity & Plagiarism: The University of Southern California is foremost a learning community committed to fostering successful scholars and researchers dedicated to the pursuit of knowledge and the transmission of ideas. Academic misconduct is in contrast to the university's mission to educate students through a broad array of first-rank academic, professional, and extracurricular programs and includes any act of dishonesty in the submission of academic work (either in draft or final form). This course will follow the expectations for academic integrity as stated in the USC Student Handbook. All students are expected to submit assignments that are original work and prepared specifically for the course/section in this academic term. You may not submit work written by others or "recycle" work prepared for other courses without obtaining written permission from the instructor(s). Students suspected of engaging in academic misconduct will be reported to the Office of Academic Integrity. Other violations of academic misconduct include, but are not limited to, cheating, plagiarism, fabrication (e.g., falsifying data), knowingly assisting others in acts of academic dishonesty, and any act that gains or is intended to gain an unfair academic advantage. The impact of academic dishonesty is far-reaching and is considered a serious offense against the university and could result in outcomes such as failure on the assignment, failure in the course, suspension, or even expulsion from the university. For more information about academic integrity see the student handbook or the Office of Academic Integrity's website, and university policies on Research and Scholarship Misconduct. For more information on what qualifies as plagiarism see this website and its tutorials. Plagiarism is not limited to, but includes: Copying or paraphrasing another author's words. This includes just reorganizing words or phrases or replacing a few words - you are still taking someone else's ideas and presenting them as your own. Also, included is turning in a paper by AI or by another student, copying and pasting from a shared google doc, or submitting something you wrote for another class or during high school. I have seen these all happen. Please don't do it. It makes me sad. If you have questions please see me. AI Generators: Since developing analytical, and critical thinking skills are part of the learning outcomes of this course, all assignments should be prepared by students working individually. Students may not have another person or entity complete any substantive portion of the assignment. Developing strong competencies in these areas will prepare you for a competitive workplace. Therefore, using AI-generated tools is prohibited in this course, will be identified as plagiarism, and will be reported to the Office of Academic Integrity unless it is included in your section policy as allowable. We also reserve the right to use AI detectors if we suspect the use of AI. We are aware that such detectors can be wrong but they can be one tool for us if we suspect AI use. Course Content Distribution and Synchronous Session Recordings Policies: USC has policies that prohibit recording and distribution of any synchronous and asynchronous course content outside of the learning environment. Recording a university class without the express permission of the instructor and announcement to the class, or unless conducted pursuant to an Office of Student Accessibility Services (OSAS) accommodation. Recording can inhibit free discussion in the future, and thus infringe on the academic freedom of other students as well as the instructor. (The USC Student Handbook, page 13). Distribution or use of notes, recordings, exams, or other intellectual property, based on university classes or lectures without the express permission of the instructor for purposes other than individual or group study. This includes but is not limited to providing materials for distribution by services publishing course materials. This restriction on unauthorized use also applies to all information, which had been distributed to students or in any way had been displayed for use in relationship to the class, whether obtained in class, via email, on the internet, or via any other media. (The USC Student Handbook, page 13). Support Systems for Writing: If you are worried about your writing skills you can see me or your TA, but if you want more help you can use USC's writing center. You can set up consultations to discuss writing strategies.

Office of Student Accessibility Services: The Office of Student Accessibility Services (OSAS) provides certification for students who need accessibility services and helps arrange the relevant accommodations. A letter verifying your needs can be obtained from OSAS and should be forwarded to me as soon as possible. Emergency Support System: If an officially declared emergency makes travel to campus infeasible, USC Emergency Information will provide safety and other updates, including ways in which instruction will be continued by means of Brightspace, teleconferencing, and other technology. Required Readings Course Readings: If you didn't opt out of the new course adoption program, everything should be available online through either the readings I posted or through My Materials on Brightspace. Click here for the FAQ page. If you decided not to sign up for the digital course materials program you will need to buy the books below: Barbara Diefendorf, ed., The Saint Bartholomew's Day Massacre: A Brief History with Documents Assignments Assignments: Discussion Section - 15% This section of your grade is determined by your participation in your discussion section. Your TA will outline their participation policies in section. Part of your participation grade is to complete two primary source activities on Nov 13 and Nov 20 (posted on Brightspace like a reading). These should be turned into your TA's link on their Brightspace page before section begins for credit. It will be graded pass/fail. See your TA's syllabus for more information. Identification Quizzes - 5% After every lecture there will be three terms listed. Eleven times during the course of the semester there will be a quiz at the beginning of class that asks you to identify two of those terms. This exercise will prepare you for the exams, which will ask you to engage with these terms. You cannot make up these quizzes, but your lowest score will be dropped. Sleep Paper -20% This 4 page paper will ask you to use readings on early modern sleeping patterns to make an argument about primary sources and/or life in early modern Europe. You will turn it in via your TA's Brightspace. See Brightspace for prompts. Witchcraft Paper - 20% This 4 page paper will ask you to read a number of primary sources detailing early modern witchcraft trials and to pick a prompt to make argument about what you read. You will turn it in via your TA's Brightspace. See Brightspace for prompts. Mid-term - 20% The midterm will include ten of the identification terms (I give a definition and you give the term, just like the quizzes) and one longer essay (you will be given five prompts in advance and two will be on the exam, you pick one to address). This will be an in-class exam. Final Exam - 20% The final is the same format as the midterm - 10 identifications and one longer essay. This too will be an in-class exam. Grading Scale A: 100-93; A-: 92-90; B+: 89-87; B: 86-83; B-: 82-80; C+: 79-77; C: 76-73; C- 72-70 D+: 69-67; D: 66-63; D-: 62-60; F: 59-0 Aug 25-29: Intro & Black Death Aug 25: Introducing the Early Modern World Aug 27: The Death of the Dark Ages?: The Medieval Inheritance Aug 28: Readings for Section

Lizzie Wade, "From Black Death to fatal flu, past pandemics show why people on the margins suffer most," Science, May 14, 2020 Alex Brown and Grace Owen, "What a list of Black Death Survivors reveals about the way people recovered from plague," The Conversation, 13 May 2026. Andrew Curry, "Medieval volcano may have indirectly sparked Europe's Black Death," Science, 4 December 2025 Sep 1-4: Everyday Life Sep 1: Power in Fifteenth Century Europe Sep 3: A Day in the Life: Living in Fifteenth Century Europe Sep 4: Readings for Section: A Roger Ekirch, "Sleep we have lost: Pre-Industrial Slumber in the British Isles, The American Historical Review, April 2001, pg. 343-365 Sasha Handley, Sleep in Early Modern England, Introduction & Chap 2 Ekirch, "Sleep we have lost" PDF document 103.Handley.Intro PDF document 103.Handley.2 PDF document Sep 8-11: Renaissance Sep 8: Worldly Merchants: The Importance of City States Sep 10: The Idea of the Renaissance Sep 11: Section Readings:

Kay Daly, "Diverting the Flood of History: Ada Palmer's Inventing the Renaissance," Chicago Review of Books, 25 March 2025 Ada Palmer, "Black Death, COVID, and Why We Keep Telling the Myth of a Renaissance Golden Age and Bad Middle Ages," 4 June 2020, Blog by author of Inventing the Renaissance (2025). Jerry Brotton, "The Best Book on the Renaissance," 31 August 2017. Blog by Ada Palmer PDF document Sep 15-18: Renaissance Sep 15: Renaissance Men?: The Highs and Lows of the Renaissance Sleep Paper Due by Midnight Sep 17: The Renaissance World: Borders and the Beyond Sep 18: Readings for Section: Vasari, Lives of the Artists: Leonardo da Vinci & Properzia de' Rossi Video: The Story of Women and Art, Part 1(1hr) Vasari on da Vinci PDF document Vasari on d' Rossi PDF document Sep 15: Sleep Paper Due HIST 103 Paper 1: Sleep in the Early Modern Period Due September 15th, 11:59pm via your TA's Brightspace

Use the Ekirch article "Sleep we have lost" and the Handley chapters which we read for class to engage with the following prompts. Paper: 4pgs, double spaced, should be well written, include a specific thesis that gives a roadmap to your paper and tells us your argument, the body paragraphs should start with a topic sentence that says exactly what your main idea for the paragraph is and has at least two quotes or direct references to the article/s that back up your main idea. This evidence needs to be cited through footnotes or in-text citations [ex: (Ekirch, 25)]. See the tips below and the paper rubric for more guidance. Prompts: Pick ONE to address in your paper What do the patterns of sleep described by Ekirch and Handley tell us about structures of power or values held by people in the early modern world? What primary sources do Ekirch and Handley use from the early modern period to investigate how people slept back then? What do these sources tell us about whose sleep patterns are easier for historians to research? And, in turn, what does this tell us about structure of power in the early modern world? Do a google news search for "sleep" and find articles discussing sleep today (these are your primary sources). Are our concerns about sleep similar or different from what Ekirch and Handley see? What does it say about the similarities and/or differences between our cultures? Take on an early modern persona and write a tract entitled "On Sleep" that reflects upon what sleep means for them/society and/or gives guidance on how to approach sleep. Be sure to use citations to Ekirch and Handley to show us where the information is coming from. Helpful Hints:

Be sure to have a thesis statement in the introduction that tells your reader what the argument for the paper is and how you will approach it. It should tell us exactly what to expect from the coming paragraphs Include direct quotes and/or specific examples from the article or primary sources you found. Cite them. This is your evidence and an essay is only as good as the support you have for your points. Remember we love direct evidence. Each body paragraph should have its own distinct topic, which should be stated in the first sentence. Your topic sentence should be centered on an idea rather than being descriptive. Don't be vague either. (Avoid: "People slept in different ways" [vague] or "People went to bed at 8pm" [descriptive]; Go for something like: "Ekirch uses primary sources written mainly by members of the upper classes.") The best paper should do more than just show us x, y, and z about the sleep (if you just do that and do it well it is probably a B or B+ paper). You should reach for what those points together tell us about society at that time. In the best papers the points should build off each other and cumulate in an overarching point. Cite all your evidence. If I can write "How do we know?" in the margin of the paper it means you should cite something. This includes items found through your google search. In-text citations are fine: For example (Ekirch, 12). But if you use the internet be sure to have a bibliography if you use in-text citations for them. We need to be able to go to the articles or texts that you used. Be sure to explain how your evidence connects to your main point (analyze it). Say why this quote or fact supports what you are arguing in that paragraph. Sep 20-24: European Expansion

Sep 22: 1492: The World of Columbus Sep 24: Plus Ultra: The "Spanish" Empire Sep 25: Readings for Section: Jerry Brotton, The Renaissance Bazaar, Chap 1 (15 pgs) Read Columbus' Letter on his Return: MacGregor, The History of the World in 100 Objects Read or listen to the stories behind these objects: Part 13: 62. Hebrew Astrolabe, 65. Taino Ritual Seat; Part 15: 75. Durer's Rhinoceros; Part 16: 77. Benin Plaque Note: Only one person at a time can access the library's reading link and the podcast link is tied to Apple Podcasts but it can also be found on Spotify. Brotton, The Renaissance Bazaar PDF document Sep 29-Oct 2: Westward Expansion Sep 29: Creating the New World Oct 1: Consuming the New World Oct 2: Readings for Section: Bernal Diaz del Castillo, The True History of the Conquest of New Spain, pg 121-171 Miguel León Portilla, Broken Spears: The Aztec Account of the Conquest of Mexico, Appendix, Chap 8-10 (37 pgs) Broken.Spears.App PDF document Broken.Spears.8 PDF document

Broken.Spears.9 PDF document Broken.Spears.10 PDF document Oct 6-9: Midterm & Break Oct 6: Midterm Oct 8: No Class - Fall Break Oct 9: No Section - Fall Break Oct 6: Midterm Hist 103: Midterm Study Guide Midterm: October 8th,

5-6:20pm in class Part 1 (30%): Identifications By the midterm you will have gathered 33 identifications from class lectures. We will list the definitions of ten terms and you will have to provide us with the term it corresponds to. The terms will not be provided. Be aware this segment of the exam can hurt you if you are not prepared because it is hard for us to give partial credit, so do know your terms. Part 2 (70%): Essay

Below you will find five essay questions, TWO of these will show up on the exam, and you will be expected to answer ONE. Try to incorporate knowledge you have gathered both from lectures and from the readings. It always looks good if you can use examples from the readings - you don't need to quote things, but discussing a specific person, text, or event helps (evidence!). You should not use information you learned elsewhere since we are testing you on what you learned from this class. Since you have these questions in advance you should take the time to consider your answers: be sure that your essay has an argument that you support with examples and that it is written in essay form (introduction, supporting paragraphs with specific evidence, conclusion). Most of these questions are intentionally broad. It is up to you to find a way to focus the question in an interesting way and find support for that. Could Europe in 1550 be called a "new world"? Why or why not? [You can define what you mean by "new world"] Create a character for yourself who is on their deathbed between 1450 and 1550 and looking back on their life. What structured their life and what changes did they witness? What does it show us about the period? Be sure to think about where they were living, their gender, and what class they belonged to. True or False: "The 'big' events of the early modern period, like the Renaissance and westward expansion, were events created and experienced by male elites." Defend your answer. What changed early modern Europe more: art and ideas, war, or disease and/or environmental change? Between 1348 and 1550 what impact did the outside world have upon Europe? Did it affect it more than interior changes? Oct 13-16: The Reformation Oct 13: Last Days: The Road to Reformation

Oct 15: Here I Stand: Martin Luther's Reformation Oct 16: Lyndal Roper, "Living I was your Plague: Martin Luther's World and Legacy," Chap 1 (The Luther Cranach Made), Chap 6 (Luther the Anti-Semite), Chap 7 (Luther Kitsch) 103.Roper.Luther.1 PDF document 103.Roper.Luther.6 PDF document 103.Roper.Luther.7 PDF document Oct 20-23: The Reformation Oct 20: Ruling the Reformation: Expanding & Controlling the Reformation Oct 22: The Word: The Power of Print Oct 23: Section in Special Collections "Reading" for section: The Machine that Made Us (1hr) Oct 27-30: Reformation Oct 27: The Church Resurgent: The Catholic Church & the Reformation Oct 29: "These are the days of shaking": The Wars of Religion Oct 30: Readings for Section: Barbara Diefendorf, ed., The Saint Bartholomew's Day Massacre: A Brief History with Documents, Introduction, Documents 2-6, 9-11, 16-21, 31, 33 Nov 3-6: Witches & Science

Nov 3: Witchcraze!: Witches in Early Modern Europe Nov 5: Rewriting the Book of Nature: The New Science & New Knowledge Nov 6: Readings for Section: Brian Levack, The Witchcraft Sourcebook, Chaps 36-44, 46-47 103.Levack.36 PDF document 103.Levack.37 PDF document 103.Levack.38 PDF document 103.Levack.39 PDF document 103.Levack.40 PDF document 103.Levack.41 PDF document

103.Levack.42 PDF document 103.Levack.43 PDF document 103.Levack.44 PDF document 103.Levack.46 PDF document 103.Levack.47 PDF document Nov 10-13: Enlightenment Nov 10: Absolute Power: Experiments in Rule Witchcraft Paper Due Nov 12: The Enlightenment: Thought Experiments Nov 13: Readings for Section Excerpt: John Locke, Two Treatises of Government (1689) Excerpt: Rousseau, The Social Contract (1762) Enlightenment Primary Source Activity [Ungraded, but counts towards participation. Due in section]

103.Act.Enlightenment1 Word Document Nov 10: Witchcraft Paper Due Witchcraft & Daily Life Paper Due Nov 10 at 11:59pm via your Tas Brightspace page [We reserve the right tweak the prompts and guidelines up to a week before the assignment is due, but we will inform you if any major changes are made] Paper: 4pgs, double spaced, should be well written, include a specific thesis that gives a roadmap to your paper, the body paragraphs should start with a topic sentence that says exactly what your main idea for the paragraph is and has at least two quotes or few specific examples that back up your main idea. See the tips below and the paper rubric for more guidance. Pick ONE of the following prompts and use Brian Levack's The Witchcraft Sourcebook (2015) for your evidence: Based on what you read in the Levack primary sources: What are witches accused of attacking or harming? What does this say about what people valued at the time? Using what you read in the Levack primary sources consider this: According to their confessions, what appears to tempt people to turn to the devil or witchcraft and what does it say about society at the time?

Using the Levack primary sources, examine the gender breakdown between the accused and the accusers. Are male witches treated the same or differently? Are the accusers mostly male or female? Why? What does this all tell us about gender and/or community during this period? Using the Levack primary sources, what do these trials tell us about who had power in these societies or how class played a role in the trials and accusations? Do the trials show state power or communal power? Helpful Hints: Be sure to have a thesis statement in the introduction that tells your reader what the argument for the paper is and how you will approach it. It should tell us exactly what to expect from the coming paragraphs. Include direct quotes and/or specific examples from the primary sources and cite them. This is your evidence and an essay is only as good as the support you have for your points. Remember we love direct evidence from primary sources. Your evidence should come from the primary sources, not the abstracts from the beginning. If you think you need to use these instead, ask your TA or the instructor. Each body paragraph should have its own distinct topic, which should be stated in the first sentence. Your topic sentence should be centered on an idea rather than being descriptive (Avoid: "Ursula was convicted of witchcraft in 1565"; Go for something like: "Upper class individuals accused of witchcraft were treated as more dangerous than those from the lower classes") The best paper should do more than just show us x, y, and z about witchcraft or everyday life (if you just do that and do it well it is probably a B or B+ paper). You should reach for what those points together tell us about society at that time. In the best papers the points should build off each other and cumulate in an overarching point. Cite all your evidence. If I can write "How do we know?" in the margin of the paper it means you should cite something - in the paper you can ONLY cite Levack's book or lecture. In-text citations are fine: For example (Levack, 12).

Be sure to explain how your evidence connects to your main point (analyze it). Say why this quote or fact supports what you are arguing in that paragraph. Do not search the Internet. We want you to just use Levack and maybe lecture for this paper. If you include other sources without checking with your TA you will be penalized. 103.Paper.2.F.26 Word Document Nov 17-20: Enlightenment Nov 17: Living in "Enlightened" Europe Nov 19: Rumbles of Revolution Nov 20: Readings for Section Video: Africa & Britain, A Forgotten History, Episode 2: Freedom (50 min) Slavery and the African Presence in London Activity [Ungraded but counts towards participation. Due in section] 103.Act.Enslaved.F.26 Word Document Nov 24 -27: Revolution Nov 24: You Say You Want a Revolution?: The French Revolution [If I have enough people who want an in-person lecture I will give one, but if you need to travel you should watch the below videos] The Fall of the French Monarchy (10 min)

Revolutionary Society (10 min): Simon Schama, The Power of Art: David (1hr) Nov 26: No Class - Give Thanks Nov 27: No Section - Give Thanks Again Dec 1-4: Modern Europe? Dec 1: Napoleon Dynamite: Napoleon & a Changing Europe Dec 3: The Emergence of Modern Europe? Dec 4: Section - Prepare for Final Exam Dec 10: Final Exam Hist 103: Final Study Guide Thursday, December 10th 4:30-6:30pm, THH 301 Part 1 (30%): Identifications Since the midterm you have gathered 42 identifications from class lectures. We will list the definitions of ten of those terms and you need to write in the correct person/place/event. You will NOT be provided with a list of the terms themselves. Part 2 (70%): Essay Below you will find five essay questions, TWO of these will show up on the exam, and you will be expected to answer ONE. Incorporate the knowledge you have gathered both from the lectures and the readings since the midterm. You should not use information you know from outside of class, since we are testing you on what you learned in class. Using specific examples is always good. Since you have these questions before hand you should take the time to consider your answers: be sure that your essay has an argument that you support with examples and that it is written in essay form. Each body paragraph should have two examples to support the point it is making. If Martin Luther travelled through time to around the time of the French Revolution what would shock him and what would remain familiar? What does this tell us about what has changed between the Reformation and the French Revolution? How important was the written or printed word to the Reformation, the new science, the Enlightenment, and/or the French Revolution? What does this say about who was involved in discussions? True or False: "The French Revolution was the most revolutionary occurrence between 1520 and 1815." Be sure to consider what revolutionary means and compare it to at least two other "revolutionary" occurrences. Europe faced a number of crises of authority between 1520 and 1815 with the Reformation, the new science, absolute rule, the Enlightenment, and the French Revolution, among other tensions. What authorities were under attack and why? How did these crises change or not change European society? [Explore 3 crises] How did the place of religion OR gender in society change between 1520 and 1800? Tips for Final Exam: Know your ID Terms. These should be easy points, but if you miss a few they can impact your grade because it is hard to give partial credit.

Your essay grade will benefit from specific references to the class readings. Use the documents from Diefendorf, reference the documentaries and the witchcraft trials, use Locke, and Rousseau and your activities. Avoid using the definitions we give in the id terms for your essay. If you show original engagement with the terms it's fine, but don't just say what I put down for the definitions. It doesn't show a deep engagement with the material and will most probably impact your grade. Your essay should have a thesis statement and each body paragraph should include at least two pieces of evidence to back up your point. We don't expect you to memorize quotes, but refer to specific people, texts, and events to support your argument. Be sure to let us know how those people, texts, and events support the point you want to make. Don't just write "like John Locke" tell use what Locke did to support your point. Do NOT use resources beyond the lectures and readings to support your answers. We are testing you on your ability to navigate the information provided for you by the class, not your ability to find more information. Avoid the internet and information from other courses. University Academic & Support Systems Statement on University Academic and Support Systems Students and Disability Accommodations: USC welcomes students with disabilities into all of the University's educational programs. The Office of Student Accessibility Services (OSAS) is responsible for the determination of appropriate accommodations for students who encounter disability-related barriers. Once a student has completed the OSAS process (registration, initial appointment, and submitted documentation) and accommodations are determined to be reasonable and appropriate, a Letter of Accommodation (LOA) will be available to generate for each course. The LOA must be given to each course instructor by the student and followed up with a discussion. This should be done as early in the semester as possible as accommodations are not retroactive. More information can be found at osas.usc.edu. You may contact OSAS at (213) 740-0776 or via email at osasfrontdesk@usc.edu.

Student Financial Aid and Satisfactory Academic Progress: To be eligible for certain kinds of financial aid, students are required to maintain Satisfactory Academic Progress (SAP) toward their degree objectives. Visit the Financial Aid Office webpage for undergraduate- and graduate-level SAP eligibility requirements and the appeals process. Support Systems: Counseling and Mental Health - (213) 740-9355 - 24/7 on call Free and confidential mental health treatment for students, including short-term psychotherapy, group counseling, stress fitness workshops, and crisis intervention. 988 Suicide and Crisis Lifeline - 988 for both calls and text messages - 24/7 on call The 988 Suicide and Crisis Lifeline (formerly known as the National Suicide Prevention Lifeline) provides free and confidential emotional support to people in suicidal crisis or emotional distress 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, across the United States. The Lifeline consists of a national network of over 200 local crisis centers, combining custom local care and resources with national standards and best practices. The new, shorter phone number makes it easier for people to remember and access mental health crisis services (though the previous 1 (800) 273-8255 number will continue to function indefinitely) and represents a continued commitment to those in crisis. CARE-SC: Confidential Advocacy, Resources, and Education Support Center - (213) 740-9355(WELL) - 24/7/365 on call. Confidential advocates, prevention educators, and professional counseling teams work to promote a universal culture of consent, as well as prevent and respond to sexual assault, intimate partner violence, stalking, or other relationship harm. Services available to all USC students at no cost. Office of Civil Rights Compliance - (213) 740-5086

Information about how to get help or help someone affected by harassment, discrimination, retaliation on the basis of a protected characteristic, rights of protected classes, reporting options, and additional resources for students, faculty, staff, visitors, and applicants. USC Report & Response - (213) 740-2500 The USC Report & Response website is the university's central reporting portal for concerns arising in the academic space or workplace. All concerns will be assessed and referred to the appropriate university office for resolution. Any questions about USC Report & Response or reporting, in general, can be referred to the Office of Professionalism and Ethics at ope@usc.edu. USC Campus Support and Intervention - (213) 740-0411 Focuses on student success by assisting students in navigating and resolving complex issues through problem solving, presenting options, and connecting to resources. USC Emergency Information Latest updates regarding safety, including ways in which instruction will be continued if an officially declared emergency makes travel to campus infeasible. USC Department of Public Safety For 24 hour emergency assistance or to report a crime: UPC: (213) 740-4321, HSC: (323)-442-1000. For 24 hour non-emergency assistance or information: UPC: (213) 740-6000, HSC: 323-442-1200. Office of the Ombuds - (213) 821-9556 (UPC) / (323-442-0382 (HSC) A safe and confidential place to share your USC-related issues with a University Ombuds who will work with you to explore options or paths to manage your concern.

Occupational Therapy Faculty Practice - (323) 442-2850 or otfp@med.usc.edu Confidential Lifestyle Redesign services for USC students to support health promoting habits and routines that enhance quality of life and academic performance. Extra Credit Over the course of the semester I keep my eyes open for early modern opportunities on campus or in Los Angeles. I will send out an announcement if I see something you can attend for extra credit. You can also do one or two of the attached "Experiencing the Past" activities that ask you to do a task like an early modern person (cook, read a letter, play music, fold a letter). Directions on the word doc. You can do up to two extra credit assignments total. Each one will give you two extra points on a paper. You should email them to your TA when finished. They need to be turned in by the end of classes or Dec 4th. "Experiencing the Past" Assignments Word Document "Experiencing the Past" Psalm Image "Experiencing the Past" Book of Psalms PDF document

"Experiencing the Past" 18th C Recipes Word Document